

Foundation Year : Kitchen Art

Every time your brush hits the canvas or your pencil makes a line, you are making a mark. It is a fundamental element in making any type of art and it is how we begin to express emotion, movement, and other concepts we wish to convey in an artwork. ~ by Marion Boddy-Evans ~

In Term 1, Foundation Year students had a go at making various marks with oil pastels in the 'Monet's Enchanted Garden' activity. The 'Kitchen Art' is another mark making activity but with paint as the medium and kitchen utensils such as whisks, scourers, tongs, mashers, strainers and sieves as mark making tools. The students made individual, discrete or repetitive marks to give different visual effects. Some discovered making different prints using the same utensil by placing it at different angles. The PYP Learner Attitudes of Enthusiasm and Creativity were truly demonstrated by the students.
